TO FINANCE HIGH SOCIAL IMPACT DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMS

THE LATIN AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN REGION BENEFITS FROM THE IDB'S KNOW-HOW AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT. WORKING WITH ITS PARTNERS, THE BANK PROVIDES INNOVATIVE, EFFECTIVE AND SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT APPROACHES.

By identifying, engaging and collaborating with key partners, the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB) brings together know-how and financial support to deliver innovative, effective and sustainable approaches to combat poverty and promote growth in the region.

Partners benefit from the Bank's vast network across its 26 member countries in Latin America and the Caribbean, providing greater visibility among diverse and valuable audiences, along with the opportunity to implement scalable programs that deliver results.

THE IDB'S APPROACH

Identifying and executing development approaches that generate results requires the combined strength of multiple actors. At the IDB, we bring those actors together, collaborating with corporations, foundations, governments, international organizations and NGOs who share our development objectives and have the capacity to mobilize financial and non-financial resources. To capitalize on partnership opportunities and deliver a productive partnership environment, we:

- Build long-term, mutually beneficial relationships.
- Leverage access to global and regional networking platforms.
- Catalyze resources for innovative and impactful social investments.

2012 PUBLIC SECTOR PARTNER HIGHLIGHTS

$40 million grant by the UK Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs to reduce agricultural carbon emissions and avoid deforestation in Brazil.

$550 million contributed to reimbursable funds by the governments of Canada and Japan.

$31.5 million secured for Haiti, including $17.5 million for education efforts.

$22 million contributed by the governments of Canada, the United States, Spain, Colombia and Mexico to the IDB's newly established Regional Infrastructure Integration Fund.

2012 PRIVATE SECTOR PARTNER HIGHLIGHTS

Banco Itaú, Fundación Telefónica, Instituto Natura and Samsung collaborated with the IDB on innovative teaching practices to improve the quality and equality of learning in Brazil.

A public-private partnership including Fundación FEMSA, the Ministry of Finance of Japan, the Nordic Development Fund, the Walton Foundation and the Government of Austria contributed $5.24 million to the IDB's Emerging and Sustainable Cities Initiative.

In the Bank's first-ever industry-wide outreach, twenty-six telecommunications and ICT companies and organizations joined together to endorse and collaborate on a report encouraging and reinforcing the efforts of policymakers and industry stakeholders to accelerate broadband deployment in Latin America and the Caribbean.
