Opportunities for the majority in the Caribbean

James Moss-Solomon

18/5/07

Opening remarks

- Paper previously circulated
- Identifies our major needs
- Increased opportunities for sustainable growth
- Access for opportunities to supply where appropriate
- * Recognizes our own specific ambitions

Government & Private sector cooperation

- * A vital ingredient for success
- ❖ Happening rapidly since the CSME signing
- Common goals of governance
- ❖ Common understanding of different strategic roles of governments and the private sector
- Harmonization/unifying business laws
- * Recognizing differences of Civil law, Common law, Roman/Germanic, French, Dutch, Napoleonic, Spanish, business law within the Caribbean

Educational/Vocational transition: Government/Private sector dialogue

- Training to identify & meet gaps in regional/world markets
- ❖ New views on appropriate education for the free movement of people especially SME's, & service providers
- ❖ Common agreement & understanding of two-way investment flows, and "national interests"
- ❖ Discussions on relevant sovereignty interests which are outdated or impediments to growth

Economic planning

- * Recognizing and empowering growth in services and service providers
- Understanding and encouraging cross-border industrial investments and people skills required
- Intellectual property and Brand value
- Continuity in CARICOM relationships without disruption of party expediency during electoral cycles

Joint Venturing/ Mergers

- * Seems difficult to achieve within borders
- Less difficult to achieve across borders but with mainly public companies
- Scotia/DB&G; Goddard's/GraceKennedy;
- Limited success with Public/Private ventures (Air Jamaica)
- * Little success at the SME level
- * A fairly consistent statement across the region

Closing: as we began

- Defeat the hindrances to sustainable corporate growth
- Enter world markets with the appropriate corporate structures for growth
- * Give some equitable incentives for increasing production.
- Recognizing that our proximity to the USA translates to high levels of ambition
