FINANCIAL SOLUTIONS

About the FFF

The FFF offers financial solutions to further borrowers' risk management capabilities in projects, lending programs and asset-liability management strategies. Sovereign borrowers can choose from a menu of embedded options to tailor financial terms of Ordinary Capital (OC) loans. The FFF also offers stand alone hedges to transform risk characteristics of all IDB obligations. These financial solutions address borrowers' changing needs during the life of IDB loans.

Transforming standard FFF loans

Through built-in options in FFF loans, borrowers have the ability to manage currency exposures. These options are available at any time during the life of a loan, on a partial amount or on the full outstanding loan balance, and are subject to market availability.

The FFF also offers loan tranching –creating sub loans within a single loan– to facilitate project cash flow management. Each tranche can carry different financial structures, such as currency, repayment schedule, and interest rate basis.

Currency Options

FFF loans are approved in US dollars or regional local currencies (LCs) subject to market availability.

Currency options include:

- Converting from US dollars or LCs to other major currencies (MCs);
- Converting from US dollars or LCs to regional LCs subject to market availability;
- Executing partial currency conversions to match desired currency exposures;
- Fixing the exchange rate at a predetermined level on a future date.

In the case of approvals or conversions in LCs, the IDB may extend LC financing in fully deliverable or non-deliverable format, depending on market availability.

In major currencies (MCs), borrowers can choose to have up to four tranches of at least $3 million, each denominated in a different currency. In LCs, the FFF offers flexibility in the number of tranches to accommodate for market constraints; minimum conversion amounts apply.

At a Glance

- Loans are approved in US dollars or local currency.
- Loans can be converted to other major currencies or regional local currencies.
- Currency conversions apply to individual disbursements, and/or to partial or total outstanding loan balances.
- Currency conversions are subject to market availability and cost is on a pass-through basis plus applicable lending margin and fees.
- Prepayment of converted amounts is subject to pass through of IDBs cost/gain from redeployment of funds.

Once converted, the loan obligation remains in the converted currency. Prepayment of converted amounts may result in cost/gain from IDB's redeployment of funds, which will be passed through to the borrower.

Currency options may be made available to loans approved under prior modalities, i.e. pre-FFF. This may require loan contract modifications and would be subject to market availability.

Pricing and Transaction Fees for Currency Options

Currency conversions are subject to market availability and pricing is on a cost pass-through basis plus applicable lending margin and fees.

Pricing of Currency Conversions corresponds to the selected currency equivalent of LIBOR +/- the estimated US$ funding margin or actual funding cost at the time of execution.

Arrears of converted amounts in which the IDB does not have treasury operations accrue interest at a floating rate in the overdue currency plus 1%, and additional charges are assessed, if necessary, consistent with a full cost pass through approach to the Borrower.

For applicable Transactions Fees, please refer to www.iadb.org/rates.

Please consult with us for these and other Currency Options.

* All loans negotiated after January 1st, 2012, are approved under the Flexible Financing Facility.
